A continent is one of several very large landmasses.Generally identified by convention rather than any strict criteria, up to seven regions are commonly regarded as continents. Ordered from largest in area to smallest, these seven regions are: Asia, Africa, North America, South America, Antarctica, Europe, and Australia. Variations with fewer continents may merge some of these, for example ...

Continent - Wikipedia
A continent is defined as the earth's main continuous expansion on land. A continent is a huge mass of land primarily defined in terms of convention. There are currently seven continents in the world out of which Europe is the second smallest continent. Europe shares its boundaries with Arctic Ocean in the North, by Atlantic Ocean in the West.
