As both far and far away imply distance, there are some instances where they can be used interchangeably. However, one must note that far away implies a distance greater than just far. Also, when used in a similar scenario, the sentence structure would change. For example: “The shop is far from my house.” However, it would be incorrect to say “The shop is far away from my house”, instead one would say, “The shop is far away.” When using far away, there is rarely any need to ...
