The New Left produced no unified body of political theory. In many countries, including the United States, it was primarily an activist force, although in France, West Germany, and Britain theoretical production was also an important concern. The range of theoretical influences on which New Left currents drew was extremely diverse, including the philosophical existentialism of Jean-Paul Sartre ...

Let me propose something different:
Left is the new Right. Cthulhu swims towards abundance mentality, and away from scarcity mentality. For a specific time period, abundance corresponded to “Left” and scarcity corresponded to “Right” but this is not necessarily always true.
